Comments: I find it difficult to believe that it is now 2023 and the US have still not rectified one of the darkest stains in our American history.

The United States made a treaty with the indigenous peoples. The courts have validated this. We are acting like thieves and above the law.

If any other country tried to steal land from us,, there would be no way we would have allowed it to happen.

The Black Hills belong to the indigenous peoples. Why is it taken so long to rectify this unconscionable act?

Do not allow this to happen. Give the indigenous peoples back their sacred land.

Please act like the United States has a conscience and are willing to "do the right thing" for people who have been treated so unfairly.
