Comments: I hiked the Pacific Northwest Trail in 2015. There is a great deal of beautiful country to be seen along the trail. The real issue is that there are major segments where you need to walk along roads. I support all efforts to move the trail onto right-of-ways dedicated to pedestrian travel. I found that in most areas the signage of the trail was totally inadequate. I support anything that can be done to improve the trail to make it more accessible to all hikers.
