Comments: When places like this are built, it's not just trails and jumps, but a place where people from all over the world come to connect. Connect and also, disconnect. Best friends, new friends and just plain old friends plan trips to travel across the world to ride with their friends at new places. You have the potential to facilitate a place where dreams are made, created from dirt, rocks, sticks and logs. A place where kids can grow their skills to levels not possible without, well, a place to do it. I will be bringing my daughter and best friend when this place opens! Thank you.
