Comments: We MUST protect watersheds. They are the purest fresh water we have on this planet, and our fresh water is a minuscule percent of the water on this planet. We need it for drinking, cooking, growing foods, and cleansing our bodies. If we draw out this water haphazardly, we are endangering our lives on this planet. Our forests too must be protected and pruned to avoid out of control fires on the lands, and trapping and killing animals. We need to care for this place we call home and preserve it for generations to come. Our time is running out for letting oil and gas fields pollute these areas and sicken our population. It's time NOW to turn to renewables. Thank you.
