Comments: In moving to Vermont 10 years ago from Massachusetts and then New Hampshire, I was delighted to find this state had land designated as the Green Mountain National Forest, reflecting Vermont's value in preservation and conservation.

As President Biden signed an executive order last year considering native and old growth forests, I was alarmed to hear the Forest Service was scheduled to log trees, some over 160 years old, in the Telephone Gap area!!

May I please look forward to reading the Telephone Gap logging request has been rejected. In appreciation for your attention.
