

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 5/5/2023 6:23:45 PM

First name: Erin

Last name: Mack

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Logging old growth forests to diminish fire threat is a terrible idea - not only will it not work, it may actually worsen the situation. Our old growth forests are an incredibly important resource in terms of ecological and climate security. Logging these forests disturbs or destroys invaluable wildlife habitats and corridors, and upsets the ecology in an irreversible way. This beautiful natural area should be left alone; we must protect the remaining old growth forests that we have.