Comments: I hike in Frisco's "backyard" almost daily, and it's a very valued reason for me living in Frisco. It was difficult to follow from your document exactly what/where your plans are. I am concerned about how frequently the terms "clearcutting" and "decommissioning trails" were used, especially given the aforementioned difficulty in seeing where each might occur. On balance, I love the trails as they are and would not want to lose any, and likewise value tree cover (but understand the necessity of some thoughtful wildfire mitigation). In short, our "backyard" is a huge resource to locals and visitors, so please do no harm, and feel free to make any improvements which will sustain and enhance this amazing resource.
