Comments: I am part of the local paragliding crew who calls the area home. We have a free-flight launch site within the Durango NW Recreation Project Boundry, known as the Falls Creek Launch. it is located at 37.35713 - 107.88016. Our local club of USPHA (United States Hang-Gliding and Paragliding Association) would respectfully request that this launch site remain open to public use. We are a passionate group (about outdoors and paragliding) and make sure all members of the local club practice Leave No Trace Principles. Our sport requires no motors and makes no noise. We also require no vehicle access to the site as our equipment is carried in backpacks. Please consider our free-flight pursuits a good, low-impact recreation within San Juan National Forest. Please feel free to reach out if you have any further questions.
