Comments: While I am a beginner paragliding pilot, I look forward to flying in Durango once I have developed sufficient skills. I know the pilots in the area, and they are conscientious folks who care deeply for the environment from which they launch and into which they land. They value the silence of the skies and want only to be safe as they engage in this sport. I look forward to joining them. Meanwhile, I ask that you allow them to maintain the launch site in the SJNF that is under consideration.
