Comments: Please protect our health, and that of our children and wildlife by protecting our water. Clean, potable water is a resource becoming more precious and scarce by the day, and it is one of the very few things that we cannot live without.

This administration has made promises galore on clean water and environment. It's time to put those words to good and start by protecting our water, right here in South Dakota. The government's role has become so bloated and overreaching in recent years that they have forgotten their primary (and some may argue, only) role: to protect its citizens. That means protection from harmful water, and this proposal is a step in the right direction.

Please protect our water, and approve this project. We the voters are watching.
