Comments: Mining in the modern age is not what it is often made out to be. Modern mining companies adhere to strict environmental standards. Many mine sites are "zero-discharge" meaning all solution that comes on-site never leaves the site. Even if zero-discharge is not part of a mining plan, cyanide destruct processes and water treatment are capable of producing drinking quality water. It is disappointing that the Solitario website does not specifically call out environmental sustainability and responsibility as core values. However, these topics is discussed in the last section of the corporate governance structure.
