

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 6/6/2023 8:00:37 PM

First name: Mitchell

Last name: Nelson

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Historically, mining projects have released toxins into waterways, soil, and the air. Not only do these tend to affect humans, but wildlife and vegetation are also affected. In addition to other industries such as forestry, I am gravely concerned about the effects and suggest preparation studies take place to assess the effects on potential threats to life in the area to ensure a healthy environment can continue to thrive in the region.