Comments: This area is a large and important watershed to the Methow ecosystem. As a Twisp River resident for 30 years I would like to see the lightest management possible . I would like to see most of the large trees left standing with no new roads and no old roads opened. Both during the Cedar creek fire and the Mission timber sale there was much too heavy of a logging impact. I would hope moving forward that the Forest Service would be managing for restoration and forest health and not for timber sale.
