Comments: I strongly believe that NATIONAL forests are truly NATIONAL. Many citizens of this NATION have various interests in NATIONAL forests, and they should all have an EQUAL RIGHT on deciding how to manage, protect, and benefit from these forests.

Some people's lives deeply depends on strong connections with these forests. Their wellbeing depends on it.

Some people would like to use these forests for recreation. No problem with intelligent regulations.

Some people ...

(forgive me, but a US presidential candidate has recently stated that ENTREPRISES are also people) These "enterprises people" are out to extract anything they can from any forest, at any price, as long as there's a PROFIT. It was gold, now lithium and any other rare mineral.

And some people like me would be very grateful if you could protect these NATIONAL FORESTS so that my grandchildren have a chance to breathe fresh air, drink fresh water, so they can decide how best to contribute to improve life in this world.
