Comments: Rapid Creek and its watershed is the most important one in the Black Hills. We already have superfund sites in the Hills that haven't been fully taken care of and we don't need another one. Some areas in the hills are forgiving when disturbed, this area is not one of them. We are already dealing with invasive zebra mussels in the Black Hills, we don't need to add any more issues to our current one. So many rely on Rapid Creek for drinking water, and it runs through the most populated area in Western SD.
