Comments: The Black Hills are a sacred ecosystem by its beautiful landscape and metaphysical cleansing for the mind. If you disrupt such a system, you will cause a chain reaction of destruction and heart ache. How long will habitat destruction satisfy selfish greed for the earth's scarce resources? How long will Indigenous people watch in sadness of injustice on the land? How long will our society realize that the Earth is not another chain for human beings to conquer and rule over?

This message is for those who have a care for the sacred Black hills and for those who cannot see the beauty and bountiful connection that the Black Hills has to offer for the soul, body and the mind through its true natural ways.

Respect the natural law and respect the laws of environmental protection.

Thank you.
