Comments: I support the addition of summer trails, both multi use, hiking, and downhill only mountain bike trails. I also support small changes to winter trails/terrain that create a safer environment in the beginner/intermediate areas of the mountain.

However I do not support terrain modification of the more advanced and expert only zones.
JHMR offers options for all abilities to ski and there is not enough reason to modify the Alta Chutes. We do not want to lead less experienced skiers into this area, as this would lead to more accidents and require more resources from the resort on a regular basis.

The Hobacks are appropriately signed as advanced ski terrain. Clear cutting and grading a new trail to allow egress for skiers/riders who are "in over their head" is not an appropriate solution to a problem that really doesn't exist.

JHMR currently has terrain for all abilities of skiers and riders to recreate. Modifying the mountain to cater to a demographic that happens to spend more money on lodging and eating out is not something I support.
