Comments: This is just wrong. I for one enjoy this area for winter activities as do hundreds of others. We are always respectful of the land. We don't leave trash, in fact we pick up what others leave when able. We are riding on top of snow, we don't hurt or destroy road systems, we report areas of concern, we clear downed trees blocking roads creating hazards. This is the people's land, not the governments or rich special interest groups. What good will come from further restricting we the people from using our land? What are we hurting from riding in top of snow that will be melted and gone by June? Do we need to collectively as a group hire lawyers and take this to court? The forest service needs to realize we are the true stewards of our land through local conservation efforts as well as our tax dollars. I will be following this closely.
