Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/20/2023 11:34:10 PM
First name: Al
Last name: Borrego
Organization:
Title:
Comments: The U.S forests are lands owned by the people, citizens of the United States. The U.S. Forest Service is just that - a SERVICE, permitted by the people through the government. Any attempt by the Forest Service to close close areas of any U.S. forest to deny a U.S. citizen reasonable use and personal enjoyment is an attempt at DICTATORIAL control and as such will NOT be permitted by the American people. United States public lands and forests ate for the use and enjoyment of the people. To deny such will surely result in negative reactions by those who deem their Constitutional freedoms denied.