Comments: I strongly disagree to this ridiculous proposed plan. Everything that needs to be decided, needs to be decided by locals .

I have been snowmobiling since I was a kid and not once have I ever had an encounter with any bear, wolverine, or lynx while out in the mountains riding snowmobiles.

Who is doing this research and where is their proof and data? If you want facts, you talk to the actual locals, the ones that have lived here for decades. We pay taxes for this land, we own this land, we don't need outsiders telling us how to manage it.

When did the national forest service stop being a service? Who are they actually serving? As far as I can see, nobody. You give us 30 days for comments on something that changes our lives when you had eight years to draw up a plan that changes our kids' future. You can't even provide solid facts, good maps, or even close to remotely adequate data. In my opinion, you should be embarrassed with how pathetic this plan is. Pick up your crayons and go home. What a waste of our tax paying money and everyone's time.
