

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 8/22/2023 5:38:44 PM

First name: Cheryl

Last name: Henley

Organization:

Title:

Comments: National forests are not for domestic animals they are for wildlife to grow healthy lives and thrive.

The US has more than enough land owned by ranchers specifically for grazing domestic animals.

We need wilderness areas to keep our air and water healthy! Domestic sheep spread disease to wildlife which harms their lives!

Ensure that the High Uintas in the Ashley National Forest remains protected from over grazing sheep