Comments: For all of the obvious reasons, all of which you have heard before, we request that you eliminate ALL grazing in the High Uintas Wilderness. Wilderness areas should be immune from human impacts, yet sheep severely degrade the natural vegetation (leading to problems with spring runoff, damaged riparian habitat, degradation of streams for fish, etc.), infect domestic sheep with disease, negatively impact all other wild animals, and disrupt the wilderness for humans who are trying to escape man's ubiquitous presence elsewhere in the West. Please enact Alternative 1, the most alternative most environmentally consistent with wilderness management. Thank you. Sincerely, Lynn and Vince Murray
