Comments: Hello,

This is a great opportunity to replace the imbalance caused by domestic sheep grazing with a more balanced ecosystem, one in which the role of grazer is filled by bighorn sheep. Having evolved in conjunction with the rest of the wildlife of the region, with numbers naturally checked by predators yet unhindered by domestic-vectored diseases, bighorns are an integral part of restoring these areas to their more "natural or wild" state. Please adopt the measure of domestic sheep exclusion.

Thank you,
