Comments: I live in the town of Yaak. We are in the very NW corner. MY experience with the snowmobiles, is not a good one. We get out of state people, it seems like it is a joy for them to chase wildlife through the deep snow. It breaks my heart, when you see an animal, that just can not run anymore, and lays down to meet its fate. Animals were here first. They are chased all year, can you NOT, give them a season, where they do not have to run for their lives, and use up precious energy to run from these people. We hear snowmobiles day and night. I can not imagine, being an animal, that has to run from predators and snowmobiles also. What are you people thinking??
