Comments: Hi,

I first visited Monarch Mountain in the 1980's.

I have found the outdoor skiing experience, their efficiency, their hospitality and their stewardship of the mountain to be extremely well managed.

I'm no expert on environmental issues but it seems they are always working to keep the trails & mountain both safe & healthy for outdoor enthusiast...on their website they are regularly reporting on necessary Tree Removal to protect the health of others. The mountain manager regularly takes pictures of its beauty & explains its nature, weather patterns, environmental changes & I get the sense he & other management teams really care about their Mt. stewardship and have struck a good balance in doing so.

Therefore, I'm hoping you find this careful, modest expansion aligns with your important standards while also allowing winter sport enthusiast increased access to the joys of nature.

Sincerely,

H. G. Potts
