Comments: I have recreated using both tracked and wheeled vehicles in the winter time including over snow travel and I believe it a strong component of the outdoor recreation culture in the Inyo National Forest and elsewhere across the state. Personally, OSV use allows me to visit and discover the amazing places across our National Forest in all seasons that I would otherwise not have the opportunity to visit. Having this opportunity and seeing these places gives me a greater respect for nature, our forests, and is a great way to enjoy our resources. I also get to travel in OSV's with family and friends and create memories and stories that will last a lifetime. It is for these reasons that I believe that maintaining existing OSV designations as well as looking into expanding OSV opportunities in the Inyo National Forest is of the utmost importance.
