Comments: I am an avid xc skier, mostly in the set tracks at Tamarack. I also sk the flatter areas around the local region. I would ski more backcountry except for my dreadful fear of avalanches.

The snowmobiles, especially at Shady Rest, do create disturbance from noise and fumes, however the OSV drivers are almost always very considerate of slowing down and waving to show they see us - and this kind behavior is appreciated.

The problem I have is when I see OSV's going up and down the Sherwin's marking their efforts but destroying the pristine views that are seen from many places in town. To see these tracks feels as if someone is stealing our precious scenery. I don't want to be hypocritical, but for some reason the Sherwin marks of Snowboards and Skiers don't bother me as much.
