Comments: Thanks for letting me comment on this issue. The idea of having prescribed burning in the west end of the Sierras is a great idea in fact you are already doing it. The problem I'm having with all this is you plan on doing this in wilderness areas. Wilderness areas are lands that are to be untouched by human manipulation. By looking at the map you plan on prescribed burning the entire forest including wilderness. Wilderness areas need to be left out and let fire play a natural role if they are not a threat to life and property. Leave wilderness areas out of the prescribed plan

Thanks
