Comments: Please reconsider your proposed burning of California's wilderness areas. That a huge disruption. Many birds, mammals, insects, amphibians and lots of native plants will be killed unnecessarily. Have you considered the impact on these and other areas? I understand that some burning might become needed but this is a lot. It's also amazing how nature itself has ways of doing this without the government getting involved. These areas will be affected for years and many spec may not be able to recover. Again, please don't do this large man manipulation of nature. Thank you.
