In order to comply with the Wilderness Act, The Forest Service should exclude all of the designated Wildernesses from its proposed burning plans for the Sequoia and Sierra National Forests. I believe that the agency should instead allow natural fires that are caused by lightening to ecologically re-shape the Wilderness areas in the Sequoia and Sierra National Forests. The current proposed burning plan is a high stakes plan and many of America's most beloved Wilderness areas are at stake, including the Ansel Adams, Dinkey Lakes, John Muir, Kaiser, Kiavah, Monarch, South Sierra, Dome Land, Jennie Lakes, and Golden Trout Wildernesses.
