Comments: Surely the Forest Service is aware of the negative implications to the environment to allow controlled burning in any forest. So, I am therefore puzzled that Forest Service would want to include all of the designated Wildernesses in it's proposed burning plans for the Sequoia and Sierra National Forests, ostensibly in order to comply with the Wilderness Act. Some of America's most loved Wilderness areas are at stake, including the Ansel Adams, Dinkey Lakes, John Muir, Kaiser, Kiavah, Monarch, South Sierra, Dome Land, Jennie Lakes, and Golden Trout Wildernesses.

The agency should instead allow natural, lightning-caused fire to play its ecological role in Wilderness on the Sequoia and Sierra National Forests. Nature knows best!
