Comments: I just heard about this plan. I oppose burning in wilderness areas. Wilderness areas are meant to be managed as wilderness, which means lightning caused fires, not man made. The only exception to this would be if the traditional native ways of burning are utilized. The areas listed are major to me; Muir Woods, Monarch, Ansel Adams, Dinkey Lakes, Kaiser, Golden Trout, Jennie Lakes, Dome Land, South Sierra, and Kiavah- all of these are major, well-known and beloved by the public and must be treated respectfully. As such, sticking to the original wilderness designation management plan is the best option.
