Comments: I disagree 100% with the proposed burn of the outlined national forests. Why must mankind destroy everything. The millions of trees alone absorb pollution and give us oxygen. And what about all of the other lives that you will kill that make these forests their homes. Im talking about everything from the tress to the ground. I have taught my children to respect the land that gives back so much to us. It feeds us, houses us, nurtures our soul.. And what about all of the pollution from burning I'm? Im sure im not the only person who will be writing on these concerns. We have enough natural disasters to take care of than killing off something beautiful and healthy.
