Comments: Please do not manipulate nature in implementing prescribed burns to these forested areas. Let nature take its course. If lightning sets trees on fire, then nature itself will heal and rejuvenate the lands. We as humans must learn to step back and not interfere in nature's ways. These two wilderness areas include thousands and thousands of acres. Massive burns is a radical approach to solve human-caused climate change. It is best to deploy our efforts in other directions, such as supporting flora and fauna.
