Comments: In order to be aligned with all other park visitor rules, a Leave No Trace approach should be in place for rock climbing activities.

No chalk or fixed protection allowed. Access available on a first come first serve bases, at the climbers risk, and with no application processes.

Just as Rangers remove unapproved fire pits, etc., they should also remove anchors and bolts as they are discovered. People caught installing such things should be subjected to the same penalties as others who deface public property.
