

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 12/11/2023 4:39:24 PM

First name: Mary

Last name: Connelly

Organization:

Title:

Comments: When conducted in accordance with local land management plans and ethics, Rock climbing should be considered an appropriate use of public lands. My belief is that the rules and restrictions surrounding the placement of permanent anchors should be determined locally, by user groups and land managers. As part of this, it is imperative that rock climbers and local climbing organizations and coalitions are actually a part of this discussion.