Comments: I am totally Apposed to your proposal to increase the permit days. Such an increase will significantly impact the resource in a negative way. I also disagree with your assumption that outfitted usage has less of an impact on the resource than non outfitted usage. You have to consider the total long term impacts of the permitted days.

Yes the demand has increased significantly. In my opinion, much of that increased demand is the direct result of the marketing and promoting done by the current outfitters. In many cases their clients use an outfitter one time to find their way around and then return on their own with their extended families, who return with their extended families and on and on, resulting in much more of an impact on the resource.

Any increase to the current usage days will have a significant negative impact on the resource and the quality of the experience. Please maintain the current usage days and do not increase.
