Comments: These proposals are great for outfitters and out of state visitors, but I don't see how they benefit residents of the state. With more and more big game staying on private ranches and property the hunting opportunities for in state residents is becoming more difficult for success. I would suggest limiting the outfitters to private land owners and ranchers who would like to participate in usage days on their own properties which seem to have plenty of opportunities for game management and additional income without turning our public lands over to those with the deepest pockets.
