Comments: Getting rid of these feed grounds would do a terrible number on the elk population in Wyoming. The elk have been going to feed grounds for generations, more elk would die trying to find a place to relocate them just having them winter where they are not used to. Wyoming would lose elk herds all over trying to cut these feed grounds out. This same thing happened when the Wyoming Game and Fish were worried about Bronchioles back in the day and it's just a piss poor excuse to try and cut them out.
