

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/3/2024 10:55:37 PM

First name: Samuel

Last name: Besse

Organization:

Title:

Comments: The proposed bolt ban by the US Forest Service is an infringement on climbers' rights to share public lands and a blatant disregard for their passion and connection to the wilderness. Restricting the use of fixed anchors exhibits a lack of understanding of responsible climbing practices. Climbers are already committed to preserving the environment, and a blanket ban on bolts in wilderness areas is an overreach.