Comments: Hello,

I am proposing improvements to the currently proposed guidance to prohibit fixed anchors (specifically for rock climbing). I suggest reviewing guidance in other world renowned climbing countries such as Patagonia, Peru, Nepal, etc.

Restricting the establishment of new routes to "existing climbing opportunities" on non-Wilderness lands is unenforceable and will create confusion amongst land managers and climbers. Non-Wilderness climbing management policy should maintain opportunities for new anchors unless and until analyses determine climbing should be restricted to protect cultural and natural resources.

Thank you,
