Comments: Climbing is such an intimate experience with nature, and fixed anchors make the experience safe for climbers. It is a very different experience climbing without a fixed anchor.. one that I personally would not undertake.

This is such a beautiful sport, and not one that should be further limited... i had the time of my life climbing in national parks.. made great friends, fond memories, and amazing photos... are you guys just bored ? I don't understand this focus .. perhaps something else needs to be banned.
