Comments: Please, don't keep us from climbing. It would change so much for the bad if you take away our joy in life. Climbing and having safe anchors is everything fo alot of people. There is no logical reason for this change to come about in our world. It is clear and apparent what the establishment is trying to do to create control over the people who climb. It is so unfair. Climbers protect, steward, and manage the trails to keep them safe. There is no negative impact from climbing, on the land. It's our God given right. It is climbers way of life. I find peace and therapy when I'm in the mountains. Please, don't take this away
