Comments: Hi , I have been climbing for few year and never seen unnecessary bolt or anchor on the route, irrespective of the climbing route is harder or easier. I felt climber community enforce natural selection of anchor or if there is place for placing gear then avoiding bolts on the route, I have not found any route with more than needed bolt or anchor, rather I feel there should be little more bolt or anchor installed for the safety like snake dike route of half dome.

I would vote to keep bolts and anchor intact or add few more to avoid unwanted accidents without damaging the rock and spirit of the route. thanks
