

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/9/2024 4:05:01 PM

First name: Trent

Last name: Hillier

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I believe that this is a large misunderstanding and overreach of federal land management. Bolts and other fixed climbing apparatus are necessary as safety systems and preserve the vast climbing areas that have already been long-established on US public land. Instituting these restrictions only leads to further division in land management and use by the public.