Comments: I firmly believe in the access to unspoiled wilderness areas as one of the greatest privileges we have as Americans. I also value the experiences I have had in this wild spaces as a rock climber. Fixed anchors are essential to the safety of these experiences. I believe anchors can be managed in a respectful way so as not to impact the experience of other user groups while also creating access for rock climbers. Thank you for taking a more thoughtful look at how to manage our iconic resources for all.
