Comments: I'm writing as a rock climber to oppose the proposed fixed anchor ban. These anchors are very small and are essential to climber safety. The climbing community does a great job at policing itself with respect to fixed anchors. Climbers have responsibly placed these anchors for decades and they are a necessary part of recreating safely in our beautiful parks and forests. I've found that climbers are some of the most sensitive and respectful lovers nature that you will find. As a whole, we live light on the land.

Sincerely,

Kurt Klassen
