

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/13/2024 5:07:33 AM

First name: Michael

Last name: Thompson

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Climbing has been effectively managed and enjoyed for many years with little to no impact to National forest resources or wilderness areas. This new policy flies in the face of effective management that areas across the American southwest, like Red Rock Canyon, Las Vegas, have demonstrated work. These new policies create undue damage to a rich history of climbing that America has been decolopung.