

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 1/13/2024 10:21:40 PM

First name: Andrew

Last name: Valenti

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Disallowing fixed anchors will in effect outlaw climbing in wilderness areas. They are an absolutely part of climbing. Climbers as a community are a friend of the wilderness, not an enemy. If the land can be ravaged for roads and parking lots and every accommodation so cars have access, then some bolts on rock faces can easily be allowed.