Comments: I'm against the fixed anchor climbing ban.

It's an outlier in the western world, where no other country has taken such drastic measures.

We would be the only country that interprets a wilderness protocol so rigidly.

I'm concerned that it will lead to many climbing accidents and deaths. For what end?

Climbing anchors are trivial compared to the impacts of trails, bridges and the masses of humans that visit our parks -not to mention the air pollution they cause driving in parks.

Please drop this extremist proposal and keep the our climbers safe to enjoy the wilderness.
